

LEADERSHIP FORUMS

YOU'VE GOT TO GIVE UP TO GO UP

(LEED) platinum certification, deeming it the greenest and most environmentally sustainable in North America.

However, the road to completion was not an easy one. The leadership and responsibility of this historic project was passed on to Jason unexpectedly, literally overnight. He had to overcome fear and uncertainty while leading his family and business through incredible difficulties. Through the process, Jason was forced to choose whether he would give up, or go up.

Jason will engage you with his sense of humor, speak with candor about the struggles he fought through to emerge successful on other side, and how his faith in God gave him hope when circumstances seemed beyond hope.

Jason lives in Abbotsford, BC with his wife, Pam and children, Berkely, Dylan & Maquire. He enjoys hunting, NASCAR, hockey, scuba diving, and vacationing with his family in Thailand.

We invite you to re-live the excitement of the 2010 Vancouver Olympic Games from the perspective of a young Canadian businessman.

WHAT IS A LEADERSHIP FORUM?

A unique environment for marketplace leaders that couples great leadership input with a foundation of spiritual values.

You may not know Jason Ratzlaff or MetroCan Construction by name, but chances are you have heard of one of their most recent and largest projects: the 2010 Winter Olympics Athletes Village in Vancouver, BC. As the Director of Development at MetroCan Construction, Jason had the immense task of overseeing one of the largest residential projects in North America worth 400 million dollars. Upon completion, it is one of only two neighborhoods in the world to achieve the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design
